SHERIFF POHLMAN STRICKEN.

Rheumatism.

John H. Pohlman, Sheriff of St. Louis, was a patient at the City Hospital yesterday morning. He was driven to the institution in a buggy shorily after 5 o'clock, where he was met by Doctor H. I. Nieteri, Superintendent of the City Hospital, and assisted to a cot in the surgical ward. The Sheriff scemed to be suffering great pain on his arrival at the hospital and he waiked with great difficulty. He would not have been able to mount the staffs but for the support given him by Doctor Nieteri.

Mr. Pohlman was shown to a cot in the east end of the surgical ward and Doctor Nieteri immediately set to work to relieve the pain by the use of a galvanic battery. After the treatment, which lasted almost an hour, Mr. Pohlman's condition was apparently much improved and he was able to walk to his buggy without sid.

Doctor Nietert said that Mr. Pohlman was suffering from schaile rheumatism, which resulted from exposure incident to the street railway strike, but that he is not seriously affected.

EVICTED IN THE STORM.

Mrs. Anna Jackson Was in Arrears $2 for Rent.

In default of the payment of & rent, Mrs. Anna Jackson and her four children were evicted from their rooms at No. 128 Biddle street in the storm on Tuesday afternoon. One of the children is an invalid. The family was compelled to sleep in the empty rooms on Tuesday night. Their bedding had been soaked in the storm. Kind neighbors gave Mrs. Jackson and her children food yesterday until she found shelter.

Mrs. Jackson rented her apartments from A. McMahon for $5 a month. This month she was able to pay only $3 and a few days ago she was notified that she would be evicted unless she paid the balance. Just as the storm was raging Tuesday the men appeared and piled Mrs. Jackson's furniture on the payement. She makes a precarious living by peddling.

> Unique Sentence Imposed on Wife-Beater Geo, Noreth by Judge Sidener.

PRISONER ASKED FOR TIME.

Expected to Cast Himself on the Mercy of His Wife in Court To-Day.

George Noreth, who was convicted in the First District Police Court yesterday morning of wife-beating, is a prisoner at the Four Courts while he is debating in his mind whether to accept a cowhiding by his wife in the courtroom this morning, or accept Judge Sidener's alternative decision and go to the Workhouse. When a Repubic reporter visited him in his cell last night he had about decided to submit to the florging, and in all probability, the spectaters in the courtreem this morning will be treated to a scene never witnessed by them

Noreth is a brewer and lives with his wife at No. 170 Dorcas street. He drank a little more of the amber fluid than usual Tuesday and when he reached home he was rather out of sorts. To add to his troubles he found that his wife, Annie, had burned the supper. Nothing pleased him at the table, and it wound up by his breaking a chair over her head, to the consternation of the children, who ran from the kitchen. He might have done further injury to her had it him until the arrival of Policemen Scherman and Pendergast, who placed him under arrest.

Noreth related a story of long-suffering and

TOTS WHO RAN AWAY IN STORM FOUND AT A HOTEL.

Suffered a Slight Attack of Sciatic Katie Kelly Feared She Would Be Whipped Because She Had Lost a Dime.

TOOK SMALL BROTHER ALONG.

Missing Coin Discovered and Used to Hire a Room for the Forlorn Wanderers.

Little Katte Kelly and her brother, Jody 1 Kelly, who ran away from their home at No. 1222 North Sixth street in the storm on Tuesday afternoon because they were afraid that Katie would be whipped for losing a dime, were found yesterday morning at the Home Hotel, No. 823 North Sixth street, where the two spent part of the night, paying the lost dime for a room in which to sleep. They had nothing to eat from the time they left home until they returned about noon vesterday. Little Katie did not receive the whipping she feared so much, and her parents, whom she frightened extremely, are overjoyed at her return. All desire to run away from home has left the two little wanderers.

When Katte, who is 10 years old, came home from the grocery store at Third and O'Falion street and told her mother that she had lost to cents Mrs. Kelly scoided her and sent her back to find the money. Katie is quite a spirited little girl and she rebelled at the severe rebuke her mother administered. When she saw the storm clouds racing over the sky she thought to herself what a fright her mother would have if she were lost in the rain and would sever, never come back.

She found her money, and in the storm wandered back toward home. On the way she met her little brother, Joey, who is not quite 7 years old. He had been sent not quite i years oid. He had been sent by his mother to find the girl and tried to personde her to go home. But she was piqued and forced her little brother to go with her. In all the bilinding rain the two little tors wandered down the street, trenched to the skin. Joey, who wore a exercised over her disappearance, cap, lost it in the storm. Thus the walked aimlessly and wearlly about until midnight, when they surprised the night clerk of the Home Hotel by siding up to his desk with a dime and piping "We want a room." They looked forforn and ragged after wandering about in the rain, so the clerk, who thought they were two little street gamins, gave them a room, But Joey would not sleep, and he cried mill, in desperation, little Katle slipped out of the hotel while no one was looking and ran to her home to see what sort of a reception was in store for her. But when she reconnoitered at the back door and heard her mother talking her courage ooze-away and she fied back to the hotel.

Yesterday morning a neighbor, Mrs. O'Donnell, happened to pess the hotel and saw the two children. She had read in The Republic of their disappearance and took them home.

Katie is well known in the business district of St. Louis, as she often collects lit-tle funds for the parish school of St. Patrick's Church, in which she is a pupil. HEMAN PUNCHED O'MEARA. Business Dispute Between the Contractors the Cause.

John B. O'Meara of the Hill-O'Meara Con-

John B. O'Meara of the Hill-O'Meara Construction Company, former Lieutenant Governor of Missouri, and John C. Heman of the Heman Construction Company had a personal encounter yesterday noon in the corridor of the Wainwright building over a business difference. Heman countered on O'Meara's right jaw, dazing him, and was following up his advantage when mutual friends interfered and stopped the combat. O'Meara bears no marks of the encounter, but later he made application for a warrant against Heman, charging him with assault and battery. The application was taken under advisement by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnson.

The trouble between the two contractors grew out of the city lighting contract. Heman was interested in the Kern Incandescent Light Company of New York, which secured the contract for lighting the residence portion of the city last February, and forfeited the centract a month ago. When the new letting was ordered Heman asked O'Meara to join him in a bid for the contract. They pat in a bid, and put up a $1.500 check as forfeit. The day the bids were to be opened, O'Meara says, he realized that he would be unable to carry out the contract if it was awarded to him and he withdrew the check. He claims that the check was his personal property, but Heman alleges that he was responsible for half the amount, and that he had tendered O'Meara a claims that the was responsible for half the amount, and that he had tendered o'Meara a claims that the bid and the check were withdrawn without consulting him, and he felt aggrieved at O'Meara's action. The contract was awarded to the Weisbach people, whose bid was considerably higher than that of O'Meara at the O'Meara's action. The contract was awarded to the Weisbach people, whose bid was considerably higher than that of O'Meara, he says, threatened to him by his friends.

Yesterday Heman was in the corridor of the Weinwright building when O'Meara alighted from his buggy and started for the eievator to go to his office on the ninth floor. A. B. Howard, a frien

BITTER FEELING SHOWN.

Fight in Central Trades and Labor Union Intensified.

The reorganized Bus Line Committee of the Central Trades and Labor Union was engaged yesterday in auditing the accounts of the defunct committee of fifty which pro viously had charge of the work. Eitter feeling was manifested on both sides of the controversy now raging in the Central Trades and Lator Union, and everybody was r-presented by counsel. The investigation was conducted behind closed doors and no definite information was obtainable.

Messrs, Blackmere, issues and Priester-bach, former members of the committee of nity, and prominent leaders in the labor movement of St. Louis, were on hand and were violent in their denunciation of the action taken by the central body at its miling ast Sunday afternoon. Blackme said:

"The end is not yet in sight. You may think we did some fighting last Sunday, that was not a circumstance. That was only a think we did some fighting last Sunday, that was not a circumstance. SCION OF NOBLE POLISH FAMILY AT CITY HOSPITAL

A PATIENT IN THE OBSERVA TION WARD.

Walter Modzeliwsky Becomes Violent and Attacks the Children of His Benefactress.

Walter Modzellwsky, a carpenter, who ves at No. 1222 Wash street, and who is said to be a member of a prominent family n Northern Poland, was taken to the City Hospital yesterday afternoon for observaon at the request of his friend, Mrs. Lot ta Deering, of No. 1424 North Thirteent street. Modzeliwsky has been irrational for the last eight months, as the result of ner yous diseases, and would wander about th streets without food for days at a time. Then he would come to Mrs. Deering's home and she would give him a meal. Yesterday he became violent and began to throw the chairs at the Deering children, and Mrs. Deering caused him to be taken away.

Modzeliwsky's family lives in the far northern part of the Province of Poland. In the days of King John Sobieski, when the Polish Kingdom was finally disinte grated, the Modzeliwskys were among the poble families who stood at the side of the hero King. For this reason it is impossible for the sons of the family to prosper in their own country, and Walter, being a younger son, left his father's home at the conclusion of his university career, and came to America.

In Philadelphia he met Mrs. Deering, with whose family he had been acquainted in fireproof; $17.59 and upward per month. When the Deering family came to St. Louis about six years ago the young man came with them. But instead of improving under hard work he became worse and about a year ago he broke down altogether. Since then he has been more or less men-tally unbalanced. His wanderings on the street and his forsaken condition caused the Deerings to send him to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, at their own expense,

FIRST MET IN A SICK ROOM.

Miss Grace Branch, a Nurse, Weds Edmund Carrington.

Misa Grace L. Branch, formerly of No. 2117 Washington avenue, and Edmund Carrington, a travelling man, were married last Monday under rather romantic circumstances and are now living at No. 523 Clemens avenue. The wedding was a great surprise, not only to the Irlends, but also to the parents of the young couple.

Mise Branch is a nurse. She graduated from the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium, and it is said that the pair first met while she was engaged in nursing a sick friend of Carrington's. This was more than a year ago, and the acquaintance between the two continued. Last Monday they met by atrangement and proceeded to the license of fice, afterwards journeying to the bouse of a friend at No. 523 Clemens avenue, where the ceremony was performed. They are still stopping at that address and will make their home there for the immediate future.
